ANATOMY OF THE LOCUST.

An Insect With a Remarkably Good Digestion—Not Subject to the Liver Complaint—Its true Inwardness—Very Loose In Its Habits, But Excelling as a Layer.

J. G. Lemmon in the Record-Union.

The digestive apparatus occupies the greater part of the cavities of a locust's body, accounting for the great amount of food they can eat in a given time. The throat is short and curved, leading to the immense crop, several conical valves closing between to prevent regurgitation. The crop is provided with folds, rows of teeth and a sweetish fluid, "molasses" thrown out by locusts when seized. From the anterior end of the large, long stomach arise a cirelet of six large gastric cæca, or pouches, whitish, pea-shaped, and appendaged, each, by two long spurs, one pointing forward along the crop, the other backward along the stomach. The stomach extends from the first to the fifth abdominal segment, narrowing into very simple and short intestines, the rectum provided with six large, bottle-shaped glands, the office of which is unknown.

THE HEART OF AN INSECT

consists of a long tube lying just under the back, having small holes on the sides for the admission of the blood, which is yellow or colorless, and which is prevented from escaping by means of valves within. The heart is divided into several chambers by transverse partitions, in each of which there is a valve which allows the blood to flow from the hinder part forward, but not backward, being forced finally from the forward part of the heart through a canal to the head, from whence it returns and ramifies through the body, becoming aerified through the walls of the viscera, nourishes the various organs, receiving effete matter, to be carried to the heart as before. The heart of the locust has not yet been carefully studied.

THE RESPIRATORY APPARATUS OF LOCUSTS is a complicated system of tracheæ or air sacks and tubes ramifying throughout the body, the air entering by a row of spiracles or breathing holes in the sides of the body—two pairs of thoracic and eight pairs of abdominal aperatures. Insects have no nostrils and do not breath through the mouth. Large air sacks are numerous in all parts of the body of locusts, being especially large in the migratory species, enabling them to maintain their flight at great elevations. The organs of special sense—touch, taste, sight and hearing are remarkably developed in the locust. The antennæ, ever in motion, are the principal organs of touch; the palpi, of both touch and taste, while reinforced by three keen, simple ones, moving in sockets at pleasure, and placed in the centre of the forehead, enable the insect to see distinctly and in every direction. But the auditory apparatus is most curious and surprising. A large membrane, distended by a corneous ring, is found, not on the head, but lying flat on the basal joint of the abdomen, under the wings. Beneath it are fluids, cartilaginous processes, and an auditory nerve running to the third thoracic ganglion, or brain, from which large nerves proceed directly to the large leaping legs, showing an intimate relation between hearing and fleeing. Until very recently the office of this auditory membrane was totally misunderstood, and the organs of hearing were supposed to be on the hind legs.

THE LARGE COMPOUND EYES,

THE NERVOUS SYSTEM OF THE LOCUST

is essentially the same as given for the Class of Insects—a large ganglion or sort of brain in the head, connected by nerves with smaller ones on the floor of the body, one central in each segment of the body and able to maintain life in its part of the body some time after the insect is divided. The reproductive organs are too minute for common observation. The ovaries when nearly ripe form a large mass lying in the upper and forward part of the abdomen, which they greatly distend. Under the fifth abdominal ganglion lies a pear shaped pouch. This is the male gland, which secretes a copious supply of mucus, sticky fluid, which is poured out upon the eggs as they pass along the oviduct, agglutinating them into a mass when deposited in the nest and forming a thin coating around each egg, which under a strong magnifier is seen to be regularly pitted with beautiful hexagonal indentations.

SEXUAL HABITS.

The love season commences at maturity of the locust—the last molt, when the wings are acquired—and continues until death. The males outnumber the females four or more to one. The locust is polygamous and very salacious, the sexes remaining in copula several hours, at several periods. So strong is the procreative instinct that the female with her bunch of male attendants may often be seized by the heads and examined without disturbance, and a couple united will often undergo much annoyance, to the extent of thrusting through with pins or plunging into fluid until dead, without disconnecting. The female, which is much the largest (as in all insects), carries the male along on her side while feeding, the male, meanwhile, inactive, except when approached by another male, when he raises his hind legs and produces a stridulating noise by rubbing his thighs against his elytra. The female makes perhaps, several deposits of eggs, of from twenty-two to thirty-six eggs each, and she receives a male between each deposit of a nest.

DEPOSITING THE EGGS.

The female selects warm, dry knolls; it may be slightly soft or porous, but generally a stiff soil with tufts of grass cut or grazed short, or a hard cement bed covered with cobble stones; never soft plowed ground or yielding sand. A favorite place is a slightly adobe spot in a dry meadow, and the first arrivals bore their holes down by the grass roots until that location is filled, or all about a half-exposed cobble stone, afterward the entire surface of the ground will be perforated. This curious proceeding is accomplished as follows: The female places the end of her abdomen upon the spot selected, retracting the rhabdites within, then expanding them with great force if necessary; the material before them is torn away and packed to the side, the hooks are again retracted and the abdomen extended, when the hooks again cope with and remove material, and thus a hole is speedily drilled to suit, from a half to one and a half inches deep. The sebific secretion is then extruded and smeared over the bottom and sides of the hole and the eggs are

PASSED DOWN ONE BY ONE

and placed by the forceped finger in a nearly exact position side by side, the head of the embryo upward, and in three or four rows, of about eight eggs each. The hole is then filled with more of the at first frothy, cellular secretion, soon becoming hard and impervious to water. The position of the eggs—with the embryo upward—is important to notice, as, this being essential to the safety of the egg, upon this fact is based the utility of plowing under the eggs or harrowing them to the surface, if feasible, by which means they become addled.

When deposited the brownish eggs are 5-16 of an inch long, slightly curved and so closely packed that the inner ones become hexagonal. By spring they are the size of rice kernels, and are plump cylinders, every one, while the hard walls of the pouch have become softened and ruptured. This growing of insect eggs is one of the strangest phenomena in nature. The eggs of ants increase ten times the original size before hatching. Where does the material come from, and how does it get within the egg? Locust eggs are first deposited in Southern California about the middle of June, in Sierra valley about the fifth of July, and they begin to hatch about the 10th of April and the 10th of May respectively.

The "Bulletin" Free Seed Distribution for 1880.

Arangements have been perfected for a free seed distribution among the subscribers of the "Bulletin" of several kinds of rare and valuable trees, vegetables and flower seeds. Great care has been taken to choose varieties that have been tested sufficiently in this country or elsewhere, to prove their value for the Pacific Coast, and such as are not readily obtained through ordinary channels. The object has also been kept constantly in view of obtaining such varieties as would prove, not only of benefit to our subscribers, but an advantage to the whole coast. Some of the more valuable of the list have not yet found their way into the catalogues of American seedsmen, and are not obtainable in this country. Several varieties have been ordered from England, France and Japan at large expense, and the actual retail value of the seeds to be presented to each subscriber will about equal the subscription price of this paper.

The distribution will be made during the ensuing winter, and will commence as soon as the last shipment arrives from Europe. There will be delay in the arrival of some of those from France on account of the necessity, in order to obtain perfectly fresh seeds, of waiting for the ripening of the crop of the present season. As soon as possible the date for commencing the distribution will be announced with full particulars through these columns, and in the meantime a description of each variety, accompanied in most cases by an illustration, will be published, and each subscriber will be able to judge of the adaptability of the different kinds to his locality.

In view of the seed distribution and the fact that the Reno Weekly GAZETTE, the Friday's "Bulletin" and the Weekly "Bulletin," are all given for $3, this is the greatest inducement to subscribe ever offered on the Pacific Coast. nov10-1mo

SUICIDE.

One day last week a man jumped into the Sacramento river and was drowned. On the river bank he left a card on which was written "Hard up and broken down in a strange place. Will put an end to my troubles by suicide."

The suicide of that man was cowardly. Most suicides are. The card he left was evidently an appeal for sympathy. But sympathy must be denied him. Men and women everywhere have sympathy for the man who bravely bears up under misfortune. But who feels for a coward?

This case of suicide, like most others, was not only cowardly, but also foolish. To be "hard up and broken down in a strange place" is a useful experience and excellent discipline, and the man who has known it is the better and stronger for it all his days. Fickle fortune can give no better lesson. Adversity is a rough school, but its teachings are wholesome and they are never forgotten.

It has often been remarked on this coast, that most of the successful men have risen from "the bed rock." It is very hard rock to stand on, but the best of all bases to start from. The man who has once trodden that formation will try hard to keep from slipping down to it again.

One can conceive it possible that a true philosopher, born to fortune, might even seek ruin and poverty in pursuit of the highest good. Socrates, one of the truly great, was noted for his endurance as a soldier, and he exposed himself to hardships the better to withstand privations. Let a man stand on a street corner, of a raw morning, searching the lining of his vest for a peradventure dime, with which to get breakfast, and the realities of life seem to him never so sharp and clear—especially if he don't find the dime.

Then, again, the suicide is foolish, because he does not look beyond the present. The things that might make a young fellow of twenty think of suicide he will probably laugh at when forty. There are green spots on the road through life as well as stretches of sandy desert. If the traveler finds himself in a barren waste, it is weak and foolish in him to lie down and perish in the sand. Let him push on for the next oasis, and, arrived there, his draft at the fountain will be the sweeter for his past thirst.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The New York Tribune publishes a report of an interview with Hon. John D. Defrees, a veteran Republican, who has spent many years in public life, and has an enviable reputation for honor and intelligence. His views on the question of a third term were thus concisely stated:

"I don't take any stock whatever in it. Grant has been tried twice, and his administration left an odious reputation. There is nothing in him which calls upon the people to change all their traditions on the subject of a third term."

A New Crematory Process.

The necessity of employing very high temperatures in cremation, so as to convert the body into ashes, appears likely to be done away with by the experiments of M. Lissagarry. The difficulty in cremation is to decompose and reduce to ashes tissues containing seventy-five per cent of water; but M. Lissagarry overcomes this by exposing the body, first of all, to the action of superheated steam, which chars the tissues and enables them to burn easily in a simple furnace at a very much less cost of fuel and without the least unpleasantness.

Four times the odds against the winner have been 50 to 1. Four times, also, odds at 40 to 1 have been landed. Besides these, on more than a dozen occasions the odds against the winner have been more than 20 to 1.

PERSONALS.

Ed. Parish came in from Long valley to-day with a wagon-load of pork.

Rev. Dr. Carver, the presiding Elder of the M. E. Church in the Reno district, was announced to lecture in Susanville last night.

J. W. Gray drove 1874 sheep through the town to-day, on the way to Pyramid Lake. They had been grazing about Lake Tahoe, and are owned by J. C. Cutting.

George King, of the Nevada Bank of Virginia, came down last night to meet his wife, who arrived from the east on the overland. They went to Virginia this morning.

Masonic.

At the regular meeting last Saturday of Reno Lodge, No. 13, F. and A. M., the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Worshipful Master, Henry L. Fish; Senior Warden, Geo. H. Fogg; Junior Warden, F. J. Winchell; Treasurer, T. K. Hymers; Secretary, Ben. E. Hunter. Installation will take place at the next Stated Communication, at which time the appointed officers will be announced. The installation will be public to the extent of the Masons' families only.

A Burglar and two Vagrants Captured

Constable Avery yesterday arrested a Chinaman believed to have been concerned in the burglary of T. Barnett's house last Saturday night, when some blankets and several suits of clothes were stolen. Some of the stolen goods were subsequently left on the depot platform by a Chinaman. The prisoner will be examined this evening before Justice Young.

Two vagrants were arrested last night and lodged in jail, to await trial.

A Home Minstrel Troupe.

The Silver State Minstrels, a home troupe of amateurs, have been rehearsing for several weeks, and have arranged to give a performance in the Nevada Theatre on Wednesday evening, Dec. 3d. The programme is not yet announced.

SHARP SHOOTING.

The Adventures of a Reno Professor in the Wilds of Lassen County

W. A. Whittier, of Janesville, was in town yesterday and was looking for "the long-legged schoolmaster." He said a big-footed fellow came out there last summer, in company with a good-looking young lady and rusticated for several days. The young lady called the tall man, "Professor," and he told the folks that he was a "way up educator" and had charge of the young ideas shooting around Reno. He had which he aired every day and talked about how far and straight he could shoot. One day when the young couple were out on the lake shore they came across a flock of a dozen ducks. Bang! went the big gun, and over went a duck. As the rest of them did not fly away the Professor supposed they were paralyzed with fear at the deadly precision of his aim and he very leisurely proceeded to slay every one of them. Highly elated, he carried them home to Whittier's and considered himself a mighty hunter until Mrs. W. said: "Well; Orvis, if you havn't killed my tame ducks! Look at their wings." And sure enough every wing was clipped.

A Fire on Sunday—New Railroad Building and Corral—The I X L Mining District Excitement.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Yesterday a fire broke out in Pat Tulley's barn. He lost farming implements, tools, harness and straw. Mr. Tulley has been absent from home for some time. Cause of fire unknown.

The railroad company has built a substantial corral. The foundation for a new and commodious, freight house is laid. The dimensions are 106x40 feet. The office part is to be two stories.

The principal topic of conversation is the I X L mining district. It is an old district that has been for years abandoned. But like so many other dead mining camps in this state at present, it has come to life again. Let us hope they may renew their youth and never grow old. The district is but forty miles from this place, and we talk of having a stage line between the two.

Lovelocks, Nev., Nov. 24, 1879.

The Latch Key.

The following lines were found in Col Fulton's book, after his death, and were doubtless his own. He was much given to such sentiments as they express.

The latch key in the door,
When the busy day is o'er;
How the little footsteps patter through the hall,
How eagerly they've listened
While their young eyes danced and glistened,
For that sound that brings a welcome for them all.

A blue-eyed merry boy,
And a gold-haired girl, a joy,
That was sweeter than the sweetest dream of life,
And a toddling wee thing, too,
With her merry eyes of blue,

And smiling over all a loving wife.
Then the struggle for the bliss
Of the first paternal kiss.
By those loving, laughing, merry, happy dears,
Comes across life's face to day
In that land so far away,
Fresh as in those far off, happy, sunny years

Taxes Delinquent.

The list of delinquent tax-payers was turned over to the Auditor to-day. The following is the official statement:

State proportion	723	14
County	1641	17
Poll Taxes	1120
Reno Incorporation	132	22
Sewer Tax	1006	55
School District, No. 9	6	55
" " " 10	92	56
Franktown Road (special)	13	43

Total Delinquency—$4734 62

The delinquents are allowed twenty days from the time of publication of the Auditor's notice, in which to pay their taxes with the ten per cent. added. After the expiration of twenty days the taxes remaining unpaid are placed in the hands of the District Attorney for collection.

The delinquent list last year footed up $4344 41. As the unpaid sewer taxes do not properly belong to the delinquent list of State and county taxes, the total delinquency this year is but $3728 07, just $616 34 less than last year's delinquent list.

The Firemen's Ball.

At the special meeting of the Reno Engine Co., No. 1, held last evening, it was ordered that the members of the company appear in uniform at the ball. Uniforms will be furnished at the hall on Thursday afternoon. None but members in good standing will be allowed to wear uniform. The firemen's ball will be one of the events of the season.

Special Meeting Of the Reform Club

A special meeting of the Reform Club is called for this evening. It will be held at the Baptist Church. Business of importance will be submitted, and a full attendance is requested.

SUSANVIVLLE NEWS.

Cattle Driving and Sale of Hay—Three Divorce Cases, etc.—A Lodge of the Ancient Order of "601" Established—Susanville Getting Hot for Roughs.

From our own Correspondent.

Joe Stevens of Lake View, Oregon, drove down 500 head of beef cattle to feed for the San Francisco market. Oscar Hemler also drove 600 down to feed for Hayes, Carrig & Co. of Oakland. All the hay in the Tule Confederacy, amounting to about 15,000 tons, has been sold to feed beef. The price paid was from $4 50 to $7 50 per ton. Connor, the tree man of your city, was here this week with a large lot of trees for the northern country. All the farmers about Honey Lake are plowing.

District Court is in session here this week. Three divorce cases are before the court for settlement. Mrs. Murdock has a case involving somewhere near $20,000. Cox & Clark of Sacramento are her opponents. E. V. Spencer is the attorney for Mrs. Murdock, Geo. Caldwalder, of Sacramento, has charge of Clark & Co.'s side of the case.

The people here believed that the proper officers of the law were not doing their duty in the way of protecting the lives and property of citizens from the roughs who were of late numerous in this community, and that the authorities were doing nothing to suppress the vice of opium smoking. The officers seemed rather to countenance the proceedings of the lawless element, and when the late row occurred they did not even arrest the ring-leaders until after a complaint was issued, fully an hour after the disturbance. The citizens have therefore formed a vigilance committee, under the historical name of "601." Since its organization, two disreputable characters have left the place, not, however, until a notice to quit was served on them. Wm. Loyd left on the Reno stage, under an escort as far as Milford. Lewis P. Burnham departed on foot, his face turned towards where the setting sun sinks in the calm waters of the Pacific. There are a few more here of the same sort, who will get a ticket of leave, unless they tread the paths of virtue in the future.

JULIAN.

Susanville, Cal., Nov. 21.

Cinchona Rubra.

There are now two kinds of drunkenness, continuous and periodical. Either kind may be termed in all respects a disease. That it is such is proved by the one fact—afflicted parties are frequently compelled to drink against their will or better judgment. Nothing will restrain them; neither the prayers of friends, the tearful entreaties of wives and children, nor the imminent ruin of their private affairs.

The principal predisposing cause of drunkenness is a sanguine temperament, a strong excitable nervous system. Daily observation shows that men excelling in body and mind are more disposed to drunkenness than those of feeble habits. Th a weakling is affected with headaches after drinking rarely become drunkards.

THE CURE—CINCHONA RUBRA.

Cinchona bark was introduced into Europe about the year 1638, but it was not until about 1737 that the plant producing it was known to naturalists. In that year, a French man, on a journey to Lima, Peru, had the opportunity of examining the tree, a description of which (upon his return to Paris) he published in the Memoirs of the French Academy. Soon thereafter, Linnæus, the botanist, gave it the name of "Cinchona Officinalis," in honor of the Countess of Cinchon, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, who had been healed miraculously (as the Jesuits of the day believed) by drinking from a pool of water into which the top of one of these trees, blown down by the wind, had fallen.

Cinchona stands at the head of all tonics. When taken into the stomach a pure tincture of it usually excites in a short time a warmth which diffuses itself over the whole body. After some moments have elapsed the circulation experiences its influence, as exhibited in the somewhat increased frequency of the pulse; and, after a few doses are given at regular intervals, the whole system becomes more or less beneficially affected, and all the functions undergo a moderate degree of excitement. Its action upon the nervous system is often evinced by a sense of tension, or fullness or slight pain in the head, singing in the ears, etc.; overdosing brings partial temporary deafness. But, besides the mere excitation of the ordinary functions of health, it produces other effects upon the system which must be considered peculiar and independent of its mere tonic operation. That power by which, when administered in the intervals between the paroxysms of a disease, it interrupts the progress of the malady, is something more than what is understood by the tonic property, for no other substance, however powerful or permanent may be the excitement which it produces, exercises a control over periodical afflictions at all comparable to Cinchona.

In all periodical diseases, such as occasional "spreeing" and ague, there are intervals of rest or freedom from the effects of the train of morbid actions going on in the recesses of the nervous system, and but one remedy is known which has the power during this intermission of preventing a return of the condition experienced prior to its administration. That remedy is Cinchona Rubra. Exactly how it does this has not yet been satisfactorily explained; but that it does it has been acknowledged for over a hundred years. Indeed, all well-read and experienced medical men admit that Cinchona has this wonderful anti-periodic property.

JOTTINGS.

— B. E. Hunter wants to rent a house.

— The boys are playing stallion poker in the saloons now.

— J. C. McGee is building a small frame house on Beemer's block.

— Sunderland's check, lost by Jenkins, has not turned up.

— Hoole must be making money out of the Bodie News, for it is soon to be enlarged to a 32-column paper.

— Gen. R. M. Clarke and ex-Governor Blaidsell got back last night from their trip to the Paradise mines.

— A public meeting, for the purpose of discussing the project of a Methodist school in Reno, will be called in a few weeks.

— Early this morning a "butterfly," or "blanket-stiff," was seen creeping along the streets, picking cigar stumps out of the gutters.

— The Congregational Sunday School Social will be held this evening at the house of J. Graff, on Peavine street.

— Varney's dancing class will meet to-night at the Nevada Theatre. After 10 o'clock a social dance will follow for which gentlemen will be assessed 50 cents.

— The attention of the authorities is respectfully directed to a decomposing dead rat in the street at the Depot Hotel crossing—a stiff by night and a stench by day.

— Ducks are very plentiful at Honey Lake. Three Reno gentlemen, Parker' Davis and Fletcher, shot in two days last week twenty-two dozen ducks and one dozen and a half geese.

— Dr. Hutchins has a mine near Beowawe, Lander Co., and is going out there to work it; and to put up a mill, having secured the aid of San Francisco capitalists.

— Henry Johnson is giving his house plenty of time to dry before he finishes it up. He has no use for it until he gets married, any how. Query —Is Johnson waiting for the house, or the house for Johnson's wife?

— Now that the secret of that "Y. M. W. A." has been revealed, J. K. Everett and Hanford, his bookeeper, are receiving many applications for advice. The original intention was to throw in the advice with the groceries, but when a lady asked Hanford to-day whether the mud in the river made it rise or the rise made it muddy, he felt that the sign must come down, or else the rates of advice would have to be greatly advanced.

JEWELRY
$75.00 worth for $15.00,
—(AND A)—
Solid Abyssinian Gold Watch
FREE! FREE!! FREE!!!

The above offer is genuine, although at first sight you would consider it impossible. We will explain: Since we first established our business here, March 1st, 1878, we have paid particular attention to the buying of Bankrupt and Auction lots of Jewelry and Watches often buying at as low as one-tenth their value, and in no instance have we paid over one sixth the manufacturers' price. Since starting we have always been able to dispose of these goods in Chicago and through our regular customers throughout the country at nearly regular prices, as fast as we could procure them, but owing to the large number of failures among the heaviest dealers and manufacturers throughout this and other countries during the months of June, July and August (the time when the jewelry business is stagnant), we have now on hand an immense stock of the most desirable goods we have ever handled, and which we have bought at lower prices than ever before. In order to dispose of this entire stock in the most speedy manner possible, and make room for new ones which we shall continue to buy, we have hit upon the following novel plan:

We propose to give you a list of the most desirable of these goods, giving opposite each article its regular retail value, and sell to you at the rate of Five Dollars' worth for $1. For instance, on receipt of 50 cts. we will send you, POSTAGE PAID, any article to the value of $2 50; on receipt of $1, articles to the value of $5, and so on throughout the entire list. Below we give a list of the most valuable of these goods.

Read What the Chicago Press Say of Us, And Send Us Your Orders.

The Sentinel, of Chicago, Sept. 9, says: "We call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of the Inventors' Agency, No. 116 E. Washington street, Chicago. What the Inventors' Agency agrees to do, they will do. The Sentinel has advertised for the concern since its first publication, and we have yet to hear of the first complaint against it."

The Chicago Express, Sept. 3, says: "The attention of readers is called to the advertisement of 'The Inventors' Agency,' office and rooms located at 116 Washington St., Chicago. From personal inquiry and on the recommendation of the city press, we think our friends can do no better when wanting goods in that line. Give them a trial."

The American Stockman, Sept. 11, says: "We believe this institution perfectly sound and reponsible, and consequently persons need have no hesitation about sending for what they desire."

CHAMPAGNE POWDER!

Messrs. James S. Taylor & Co., 116 Front Street, San Francisco—GENTS: We are using your Champagne Baking Powder, and with out hesitation we pronounce it perfection. No reasonable person could ask for a better powder. Use as directed and it never fails—only one Teaspoonful to a quart of Flour.

OFFICE OF THOMAS PRICE,
Sacramento Street.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 24, 1879.
Messrs. J. S. Taylor & Co.—GENTS: I have made a careful examination of bread and biscuit prepared under my own direction by the use of your Champagne Baking Powder, and find that they do not contain alum or any other injurious or deleterious ingredients.
Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS PRICE, Assayer and Chemist.

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL.
VIRGINIA, NEV., Sept. 19, 1879.
Messrs. James S. Taylor & Co., 116 Front St., San Francisco—GENTS: I can make better results with one teaspoonful to a quart of flour with your Champagne Yeast Powder than with three teaspoonfuls of any other I have ever used. If there is a yeast powder anywhere in the world equal to it, I have never seen or heard of it. As a baker I pronounce this powder simply perfection.
AMBROSE HUSSER.
Mr. Ambrose Husser has been with me 24 years. He is a first-class baker, and I endorse the above.
